Course Description

This course introduces students to the four canonical gospels as the principal witness for the life and teaching of Jesus handed on to us in writing. Special attention is devoted to appreciating the inter-relatedness of the synoptic gospels (Matthew, Mark, and Luke), how they differ from John's gospel, and how the tensions generated by those differences enable us to enter more fully into the mystery of our faith.

Learning Objectives

Successful completion of this course will result in the following outcomes:

- Identify the distinctive ways in which each evangelist narrates the life of Jesus and presents his teaching
- Understand the synoptic problem and its implications for reading and interpreting Matthew, Mark, and Luke
- Appreciate how the theology of each gospel contributes to the faith of the church

Materials and Access

All assigned readings are indicated in the course schedule (below) and are available for free on the Internet or on the course management page.

Coursework and Grading Procedures

There are two types of graded coursework, each of which will contribute to your final grade.

- Quizzes (60%): Each module of the course is accompanied by a 10-question quiz worth 5% of your overall course grade (5 x 12 modules = 60%). The questions are objective rather than interpretive and are designed to assess your understanding of key concepts of the module lecture and major elements of the reading. Quiz study guides can be found on the course management page.
- Discussions (40%): The central learning activity of the course is online interaction with your peers. Each module contains a discussion prompt for you to reflect on and respond to. Discussion will be within small groups assigned by the facilitator and will be conducted in the forums on the course management page. One member of the group will be responsible for writing up a summary of the group's discussion. Responsibility for writing the summary will rotate with each module so that each group member will write two summaries over the course of the semester. Please download the discussion guidelines from the "Resource Materials" tab at the bottom of the course management page and review them for expectations and grading standards.

MODULE 2: From Galilee to Jerusalem (September 17 – September 23)

- Listen: Module 2 Lectures
- Read: Mark 1:16-10:52
- Assess: Module 2 Quiz
- Discuss: Which “hearers of the word” within Mark 1:16-10:52 illustrate one of the four soil types described in the Parable of the Sower (Mark 4:14-20)? Explain your reasoning for each identification.

MODULE 3: From Temple to Tomb (September 24 – September 30)
